This month's meeting was a presentation/slideshow by William C. Badger on the history of the Bennington & Rutland Railroad, and of how it served the various communities between Rutland and Bennington. Bill is an architect and explained the different styles used for stations and of how those styles evolved over time. He as well provided the historical background of the coming of the railroads. Bill sits on the Board of the Manchester Historical Society and had done a similar presentation earlier this year for the Rutland Railroad Historical Society.

There will not be a meeting in November & December. Meetings will resume in January.
